1. Objective

To design and develop a responsive news website using HTML5 and CSS3 that displays the latest news from different categories such as National, International, Sports, Technology, and Business. The website aims to provide information in an attractive, organized, and user-friendly layout.

2. Problem Statement

In today's world, people need quick and easy access to news and information from different fields. Reading news from multiple sources can be time-consuming. Therefore, this project aims to develop a user-friendly news website that organizes news into different categories with headlines, featured stories, article cards, images, and author details. The website should also support different screen sizes using responsive web design.

3. Key Features

1. Navigation Bar: Provides links to Home, National, International, Sports, Technology, and Business sections.

2. Breaking News Section: Displays important news headlines using a scrolling text bar.

3. Featured Stories: Highlights important news with large images and descriptions.

4. News Categories: Organizes news into five different categories.

5. Article Cards: Displays news articles with images, headlines, and short descriptions.

6. Author Details: Shows the author's name and publication date for each article.

7. Responsive Design: Adjusts the website layout for desktops, tablets, and mobile phones.

8. Hover Effects: Provides attractive visual effects when users move the mouse over news cards and navigation links.

9. Footer Section: Displays website information and copyright details.

10. User-Friendly Layout: Provides a clean, attractive, and easy-to-use interface.
